

Pasta Fest with Katie Parla.

Montreal - April 02nd, 2023

Italian pasta lovers will be delighted to learn that the Pasta Fest is back for a fourth edition this year! From May 11 to 24, 2023, some twenty participating restaurants in Montreal will be called upon to concoct a special pasta dish for the occasion. Greater Montreal foodies will therefore have fourteen days to taste as many pasta dishes as possible!

Participating restaurants will be able to compete in a friendly competition and prepare a predetermined typical Italian dish. This year, it's an essential dish from the Emilia-Romagna region that restaurants can have fun cooking: Ragù bolognese! Famous for its simplicity and good taste, Ragù bolognese is a dish made with pieces of meat, sautéed vegetables and tomatoes.

Judging the creations and awarding a grand winner will be none other than Katie Parla, New York Times bestselling author, Emmy-nominated television host, journalist, culinary guide and educator based in Rome.) traveling to Montreal for the occasion.

The list of all participants will be posted on the Pasta Fest website on April 20, 2023.

Save the date!

To mark this fourth edition, the media are invited to come and celebrate during a festive happy hour on Wednesday, May 3, 2023 at Pasta Casareccia, located in Notre -dame-de Grâce. On the menu: delicious bites cooked by chef Mauro Petraccone and a tasting of organic wines from Poderi dal Nespoli, wines from the Mezzacorona estate, and Inedit beer.

Medias

For any interview request and to confirm your presence at the launch, please reply to this email.

Facebook - Instagram -TikTok - Twitter @pastafestmtl

Contact

Mathieu Fortin
Founder

info@pastafestmtl.com
+1(514) 835-8728